Tentative teacher contract settled

by Jan Genis

A tentative contract agreement for the American Federation of Teachers' has been reached after five months of negotiations, a spokesman said.

The contract, originally to expire in August, was extended due to negotiation complications. Negotiations concluded Sept. 3, Board of Governors Executive Director Donald Walters said.

Walters said Monday the tentative agreement "is not subject to public disclosure at this time because the union should be able to tell their staff members first."

Carol Elder, AFT chief negotiator, said flyers highlighting points of the tentative agreement were distributed to faculty members.

In addition, folders with complete details of the tentative settlement will be published and distributed in faculty mailboxes next week, she added.

Walters said additional steps are necessary before the tentative agreement is official.

"First, both parties have to type out the agreement that was reached at the bargaining table," he said. "Then, both the BOG and AFT will get together to re-read the contract."

Later this month, both parties will meet separately to discuss and ratify the contract. However, faculty will not be able to participate in the voting and ratifying of the contract.

Faculty members will be able to ask questions concerning the agreement at a meeting scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 23 in the Library Lecture Hall, Elder said. A repeat of the meeting is scheduled for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sept. 24 in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon Room.

Council offers no issue clue

by Gene O'Shea

Charleston City Council members gave no clues Monday as to how they will vote on the controversial proposal of issuing industrial revenue bonds to Charleston developer John Young.

Young is asking the council for $2 million dollars in bonds to construct a Wal-Mart store on the vacant lot adjacent to the Eisner-Osco stores on Lincoln Avenue.

The council scheduled a special meeting to take action on the issue. The meeting will be at 5:00 p.m. Tuesday in the council chambers of the Municipal Building, 520 Jackson Ave. The council will meet to discuss routine agenda items at 7:30 p.m.

The bonds carry a lower rate of interest for the holder and do not fluctuate with other market values. The bonds also are tax-exempt for the purchaser.

Commissioner Olga Durham said she is waiting for the results of two surveys the city conducted before the council makes a decision.

Commissioner Clancy Pfeiffer said, "I can see IRB's (industrial revenue bonds) as an advantage to Wal-Mart, but I also want to be fair to existing businesses."

"I'm not committed yet. We're going to receive quite a bit more information," Pfeiffer added.

Commissioner Wayne Lanman said, "I'm leaning one way, unless something changes my mind."

Area merchants have voiced opposition to a retail operation receiving such bonds and have circulated petitions opposing their issuance.

In a recent story in The Daily Eastern News, Bill Strong, owner of Benedicts Wellworth Store, said, "These bonds were originally intended for manufacturing industries." Strong said Wal-Mart "could not operate with lower consumer prices without these tax breaks."

Larry Quinlan, owner of Family Pharmacy, said he is optimistic that the city council "will not issue industrial revenue bonds if they (council members) fairly consider the issue."

Some area merchants have gone to other cities to study the impact of industrial revenue bonds that have been issued to retail markets, Quinlan said. The merchants intend to present this information at Tuesday's meeting.

At the routine meeting the council will hear three resolutions and review bids for road salt and will also make an appointment to the Police and Fire Board.

Candidates for Attorney General debate over issues

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of four stories on candidates for Illinois executive offices who appeared in Decatur over the weekend.)

by Linda Fraembs

Daily Eastern News correspondent

DECATUR—The Illinois Open Meetings Act, selection of judges and public access to the attorney general's office were among topics debated by Republican Tyrone Fahner and Democrat Neil Hartigan Friday.

The debate between the two attorney general candidates was part of a weekend convention of the Illinois Press Association.

Hartigan said if elected, one of his top priorities will be making the attorney general's office more accessible to Illinois citizens.

Hartigan said in order to provide that accessibility, he would set up "full-time legal services" in different regions of the state, instead of only having one full-time office in Springfield.

Currently, Hartigan said, legal services in other areas of Illinois are staffed by part-time consultants.

Fahner, however, referred to Har-

'82 State Candidates tigan's legal service plan as nothing more than a "campaign promise."

"My opponent is long on grandiose promises and short on details," he stated.

Fahner said that because more than half of attorney general office employees are working for the public, regional offices are not needed.

Fahner listed continued work on the Illinois Open Meetings Act, anti-drug legislation and collection of unpaid student loans as issues he will attack if re-elected attorney general.

In addition, he said he will "improve openness in government" by advocating an Illinois freedom of information act, the use of cameras in the courtroom and an elected Illinois Commerce Commission membership.

In response to Hartigan's accusation that it was "wrong" to exclude the ICC from Open Meeting Act rules, Fahner said he was "not responsible" for the omission and if elected will attempt to instate stricter rules for ICC meetings.

Fahner said he also would like to see a rule change in the selection of judges, stating, "I am in favor of the merit selection of judges."

Hartigan said he prefers that judges be elected but subject to review.

"I think the people should have the opportunity to make a choice—then would come professional review," he explained.

Although they had different opinions on the selection of judges, Hartigan and Fahner agreed on the subject of Illinois cities using gambling as a source of revenue.

Reagan seeks insanity plea ban

WASHINGTON—President Reagan asked Congress on Monday to bar defendants like the man who shot him, John W. Hinckley Jr., from pleading innocent by reason of insanity.

But Reagan shook his head "no" when asked if Hinckley's acquittal in June triggered the revival of an earlier administration attempt to restrict the insanity defense. If it had been law at the time, Hinckley could not have met the insanity test.

The administration proposal, which also contains provisions to make it harder to escape conviction because in state courts, has practically no chance of passage this year.

In a brief statement to reporters, Reagan said the administration hopes to "simplify the justice system and make it more likely that those who commit crimes pay a price."

Vatican rejects Israeli charges

VATICAN CITY—The Vatican on Monday angrily rejected Israel's charges that the church kept silent about the Nazi massacre of Jews in World War II. The Israeli criticism was prompted by Pope John Paul II's decision to meet with PLO chief Yassar Arafat.

In an unusually tough statement, the Vatican called the Israeli accusation an "insult to the truth."

Representatives of international Jewish organizations, expressing the "deep shock of organized Jewry" about the papal audience scheduled for Wednesday, make a formal protest to the Vatican.

Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization, sworn enemy of the Jewish state, does not recognize Israel's existence.

The Vatican note defended the record of the Roman Catholic Church in saving Jews during World War II and noted that Pope John Paul II has spoken out against the genocide on many occasions, including during a 1979 visit to the Nazi death camp at Auschwitz in his native Poland.

Merger of rail lines approved

WASHINGTON—The government approved on Monday the merger of three Western railroads, the Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Western Pacific, into a single line that will serve 21 states from the Puget Sound to the Gulf coast.

Despite protests from competing railroads, the Interstate Commerce Commission said shippers and the public will benefit from the combination. The railroads are expected to begin formal merger proceedings within 30 days.

Plane crash, fire leads to death, injury of Americans in Spain

MALAGA, Spain (AP)—A DC-10 loaded with American travelers on a charter flight to New York crashed on takeoff Monday, skidded across a highway and then caught fire, killing at least 46 people by official count.

Officials said 113 were injured, 17 of them seriously.

Many of the victims apparently burned to death in the tail section of the Spantax Airlines jetliner. It was carrying a full complement of 380 passengers and a crew of 13, the airline said.

The civil governor's office in Malaga said 44 bodies were pulled from the wreckage and that more might be found. Two victims died in Carlos Haya Hospital.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Madrid said 210 American citizens and 85 Spaniards residing in the United States were aboard the plane, Flight 995 originating in Madrid with a stopover in Malaga.

Carefree David, a tour broker which organizes tours and sells them to travel agencies, said in Miami that the agency had booked 208 travelers for a two-week tour of Spain that started Aug. 30 from New York. Leonard Lansburgh, president of the agency, said the people were from all over the United States and as far as he knew, not associated with any particular group. He said other travel agencies were believed to have booked other passengers.

Civil Air Authority investigators said preliminary findings pointed to engine failure as a cause of the crash. The pilot tried to bring the plane down immediately following liftoff and one of the engines was found in a field near the crash site.

"The rear exits did not work," said Hal Lavine of Tamarac, Fla., one of the survivors. "People pushed forward. There was screaming and panic. A big cloud of black smoke poured into the cabin." He said he believed many of the passengers in the rear were overcome by smoke and unable to get out in time.

Bill Duane of New York City said he and his wife became separated during the scramble to evacuate, but that he found her later outside the wreckage. He also said the cabin's ceiling fell in, which added to the panic.

"We ran to a concrete bridge that goes over a railroad track and watched the plane," he said. "The tail was on fire. We stood there for about five minutes and that was too much."

Bekaa Valley target of Israeli jets

BEIRUT (AP)—Israeli jets blasted Syrian and Palestinian military positions Monday in east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley and Lebanese radio stations reported that 30 soldiers and guerrillas were killed.

The new Israeli air strikes heightened the possibility of a major confrontation between Israeli and Syrian soldiers in Lebanon. It was the fourth time in five days that Israeli warplanes carried out raids against the Syrians to retaliate for what Israel called Syrian violations of the Lebanese cease-fire.

The Monday strikes left several military emplacements afire, Lebanese radio stations reported. Israel said the attacks ended Monday afternoon and all planes returned safely.

Israel said the attacks were on Syrian missile batteries, Palestine Liberation Organization positions and rocket launchers.

State and privately owned Lebanese radio stations called the air assaults the heaviest mounted by Israel against the Syrians in the Bekaa since a cease-fire silenced their guns in east Lebanon on July 23.

It was the fourth time since Wednesday that Israeli planes attacked Syrian anti-aircraft positions at Dahr al-Baidar, about 20 miles east of Beirut.

All Lebanon radio stations said the attacks began at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EDT) and continued for eight hours. One leftist radio station warned a "new round of full-scale warfare" had begun.

In addition to the ground-to-air missile sites at Dahr al-Baidar, the broadcasts said Israel struck Syrian and Palestinian bases and concentrations of armor near the towns of Zahle, Tenayel, Saad Nayel, and Tarshish.

Speaker rebuked on issue of ending senate position

by Michael Kuo

Board of Governors and faculty union officials disagree with Eastern's Student Senate speaker's statement that student representatives at contract negotiations "rarely have a voice because the unions are too strong."

Currently, the Student Senate is considering a proposal to eliminate the administrative assistant for collective bargaining position.

Senate Speaker Terese Lang said Eastern's administrative assistant has little input into negotiations due to the powerful influence of the American Federation of Teachers, the BOG schools' faculty union.

"She's expressing an opinion, and I don't know her reasoning," Associate Vice President for Academic Affairs Margaret Soderberg said.

"I disagree with her," she added.

COTE appointed as go-between in conflict among departments

by Ron Wesel

The Council on Teacher Education Tuesday will attempt to resolve a conflict between the physical education department and the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

COTE Chairman Carol Helwig said the COTE has been requested to resolve a difference of opinion between the curriculum committees of the two entities.

The controversy began last April when a letter to the editor from senior PE major Lori Edwards was published in The Daily Eastern News. Edwards said in the letter that women were being discriminated against because they

"The senate should pursue the role of the assistant, because it is important to understand the formal function of the position."

Carol Elder, chief negotiator for the BOG faculty union, also said she disagrees with Lang.

"I've been on the negotiating team for two years...student observers have never been discouraged in any way from speaking," Elder said.

She added, "The role of the assistant is necessarily limited by the nature of the process, not the administration or the union."

Eastern's AFT chapter president Don Dolton said, "The position ought to be a meaningful experience for whoever holds it. It allows a first-hand look at what actually goes on in collective bargaining."

were required to take Physical Education 2230, "Techniques and Theory of Modern Dance," while men were not.

To resolve the conflict, the PE department would like to require both men and women to take the class.

However, the School of HPER would like to drop the course entirely. Walter Lowell, dean of the school, said he believes no one should be required to take the class.

"The students should not have to take the course. The course should be dropped," he said.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

BOG executive meets students for procedures, policy briefing

by Nancy Yamin

Student representatives to the Board of Governors met with BOG Executive Director Donald Walters Friday for a "briefing on the BOG," Walters said.

Eastern's student BOG representative Matt Glover said the meeting was scheduled to advise the members informally on BOG procedure and policy.

Walters and the students discussed the background and organization of the BOG, the role and responsibilities of BOG members, procedures for student travel, the criteria for establishing or changing the budget, and the basic policy for setting tuition.

Some student BOG members discussed their goals for the year at the meeting.

Western Illinois University's student representative Timothy Janes said he has always been interested in obtaining a vote for the student members.

"There's not a whole lot we can do about a vote since we don't have a coercive effect" with the voting members, Janes said.

Northeastern Illinois University's representative Kathy Kaporis said her first goal is to make students more aware of what goes on at the BOG meetings.

She also said she would like to try to win a single vote for the student members. "The student voice is important. Students should have the opportunity to show how we feel," she said.

Glover said, "I would really like to put my two cents in more with (Eastern's) student government than with the BOG at this time."

Governor's State University currently is without a student member because the elected representative resigned at the beginning of the school year.

"I resigned because on the day of registration I found that my financial aid package was not arranged," Ekoko Chu said. Chu said he could not afford school without the financial aid and therefore was forced to resign.

Students should utilize bus service

Editorial

The success of the University Union's current plan to charter a bus to the Northbrook area on weekends, in addition to the regular bus chartered to Chicago, depends upon student response. Students should use this service.

The new bus service is another example of ways Union personnel are trying to serve students. Other examples include: Union Station renovations, extended check cashing services and installation of a new rideboard.

Director of Business Operations Joan Gossett said the plan was first initiated last year when Northbrook-area parents of Eastern students complained about traveling the distance to Chicago to pick up their children.

Union administrators responded to that request by offering a chartered bus to the Northbrook area—but not enough students to fill the bus expressed interest.

Whether the failure resulted from lack of demand or lack of knowledge that the service even existed—enough students did not sign up.

Now, the Union is offering a second chance at the special service. The Union is again offering bus service and again, a minimum of 30 students are required to sign up in order for the bus to run.

If at least 43 students sign up on the Wednesday before the departure date, a Greyhound bus will travel to the Northbrook area non-stop. If only 30 students sign up, the bus will still run but will make a stop at Chicago.

Parents of Eastern's students made a request for additional bus services to the northern suburb. The Union responded by offering a chartered bus service.

But unless students take advantage of the expanded service and sign up for the bus, both the parents and Union officials have wasted their efforts. The bus service will not be offered at all and students will not have an assured ride home.

With a healthy response to the Union's Northbrook bus service, the plan could prove to be a dependable alternative to a cramped car and over-priced train fare. But that possibility depends solely upon the students.

Your turn

Fix library facilities

Editor:

I thought I had seen everything since coming to Eastern three years ago, but this week I discovered a new one. Do you know the library staff does not want students to study at Booth Library? That is the impression I got when I went there to do some studying last night. I headed for the my favorite carrel down in the stacks (which is always the quietest and coolest study area available) and lo-and-behold, all the chairs and light fixtures had been removed.

Now what would you assume from that? If you can't sit down and you can't see your books, it sure makes studying more difficult.

Okay, so maybe the stacks get abused with graffiti and illegal snacking. But it sure beats going up to the main studying areas and doing some serious cramming while groups are going from table to table.

Surely the Booth staff can consider the inconvenience this causes some of us students who, every now and then, try to make grades. We need the privacy and solitude of the stacks. Let's hope that in the near future one will not have to steal a chair and squint at his notes to use something that our tuition should guarantee.

Steve Sandstrom

Gym space needed

Editor:

I'd like to compliment Joe Schmeier on his letter to the editor in last Friday's paper. It showed the immediate problem we have in the gymnastics gym. I'm a pommel horse specialist and when I go to the gym, it takes 15 minutes to set my event up, and with the gym being supervised for only one hour, that doesn't leave much time to workout.

I'm also a cheerleader. We now practice on the outdoor track, but as fall gets closer, we'll have to go inside to the gymnastics gym. Since the space is so limited, we won't get much done—the result being; poor sideline support. As Joe pointed out, the other weight rooms at Eastern could be upgraded. There are two solutions to every problem and this one is no exception.

Craig Bryan

Eastern student's apathy unfair to players

Behind the byline:

John Humenik

"Sports. Who needs it?"—a question that is asked often. But the fact remains that many people do care about sports in the United States and specifically on the college campus. However, Eastern students seem to contradict that feeling.

Panther followers represent a team all their own, namely the "apathy crusaders." And what a team it is, something Eastern can really brag about. If Eastern's Athletic Director R.C. Johnson didn't have the highly successful Panther Club he would probably have to join the crusaders.

Although I'm being facetious, the point needs to be made that Eastern's enrollment and interest in athletics are shrinking simultaneously.

For example, the Panther football team drove toward an 18-17 victory Saturday over Northeast Missouri, but many students later asked what happened because they left at the half-time.

The Panther followers who stayed saw a top-notch comeback. But others did not care who won or lost and left early because Eastern was down 17-0.

But football, which boasts the largest draw of all Panther sports, is not the only example of a sport suffering from student apathy. Who attends men's and women's cross country meets, women's volleyball, field hockey, golf or soccer?

The time and effort Eastern athletes devote is not enough when individual rewards are considered. Having the student body behind them at their meets or games is something Panther coaches and players expect from Eastern.

"We're playing for ourselves, but we're playing for Eastern first," coach Chuck Dickerson said. That is the objective of all Panther teams, but where is the thanks from Eastern students?

What does it take? After an Eastern team places third in the nation or claims a national championship, then and only then, do students support athletics.

It's a shame that O'Brien Stadium, with a maximum capacity of 10,000, only had 7,000 in attendance last Saturday. Most of the spectators were Charleston families and non-students. You can tell that at half-time when most students exit toward local bars, tailgate parties or residence halls.

Something must be done, and Eastern officials, though long-winded in their fight against student apathy, have searched for several promotions to gain student interest.

Eastern students should take pride in our school's athletics and if they play for the "apathy crusaders," they should think twice when wearing an Eastern shirt proudly announcing the soccer team's third place national title and the football team's 1978 national championship title.

Eisner, Osco take on new look; now more convenient for shoppers

by Dana Eastridge

Students who usually do their grocery shopping at Eisner and Osco Drug have probably noticed that the stores look a little different.

Renovations combining the West Lincoln Avenue stores, Charleston Eisner Food Store and Osco Drug, into one store were made to aid the customer, a spokesman for Eisner said recently.

Renovations began last spring and the store recently celebrated its grand opening.

"It's a better proposition for the customer," Jim Wisner, Eisner's vice president of non-perishables, merchandising and marketing said. "It also meant we could upgrade and modernize the store."

Mike Jones, Osco assistant manager, agreed with Wisner, saying, "It's basically set up for convenience to the shopper. They can start at one end (of the store) and go to the other end and get everything they want."

Jones added that because the customer now goes through only one checkout counter, patrons who write checks will only need to write one.

"It's (the renovation) definitely benefited us. Eisner handles all the checking so it's more convenient for us. All we have to do is keep the store front-faced (looking good) and stocked."

Wisner said when Eisner enters into a partnership like the one in Charleston it always takes over the checkout because checkout counters are "more typically found in groceries than drug stores."

Changes at Osco include the addition of more seasonal-goods tables at the front of the store, giving it a total of three, and the expansion of the giftware and toy departments, Jones said.

Wisner said a new floral shop was added on the Eisner side and some of the other shops were "expanded and laid out more attractively."

Space was added to both stores when the dividing wall was knocked out, Wisner said.

"It opens up the store a little bit," he added.

Jones said Osco added even more room by moving some of its merchandise to Eisner.

Duplicated merchandise was combined and will be stocked in only one location, Jones said. For example, all shampoos have been stocked on the Osco side.

Both agreed that customer volume has increased.

Resume aid offered

Students planning to graduate or complete internships in the near future may want to attend the resume seminars being offered by the Placement Center this week.

Placement Center Director James Knott said the seminars will cover all aspects of writing and producing a resume, as well as advising students how, when and to whom resumes should be sent.

The seminars are scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday, 4 p.m. Wednesday, 3 p.m. Thursday and 10 a.m. Friday.

Celebration UB topic

The progress of scheduled activities celebrating the 25th anniversary this week of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union will be discussed at the University Board meeting Tuesday, UB president Steven E. Jones said.

Final preparations will be made at the meeting for performances by Jr. Walker and The All Stars, scheduled to perform a concert dance at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Grand Ballroom, and the Chicago City Ballet, scheduled to perform Thursday, Jones added.

The meeting will be at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Martinsville Room.

'Godspell' merits ovation

A four-star production with a four-star cast was performed last weekend in the Doudna Fine Arts Theater.

The play, "Godspell," under the direction of E.G. Gabbard, was performed in high-grade fashion from start to finish, with cast members showing great professionalism and enthusiasm.

The play, which was reproduced from this summer, had two casts that alternated between Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday performances.

"Godspell" is a musical based on the gospel according to St. Matthew. Bill Nicholls, playing the lead part of Jesus, was unsurpassed in his ability to portray this difficult character. Nicholls' part called for many sudden changes in emotion and he was able to switch frequently from one to the other with great intensity.

Tom Cravens, who played the equally difficult part of Judas, also is to be applauded. The cast's efforts were rewarded at Sunday's sold-out 2 p.m. performance with a standing ovation from the audience.

Even though the show had no extravagant background or props, the costumes—consisting of colorful makeup and clown-like outfits—and the orchestra led the audience's imagination to believe it was a Broadway production.

The lighting also was very well timed. Particularly effective was a red glow cast during a scene where Jesus is betrayed by his followers.

The comedy added to this production of "Godspell" was very laughable. In addition to the always-funny Groucho Marx-type lines written into the original version of the play and executed so well by the cast, the comedy was updated.

A reference to the candy "Reeses Pieces," recently made popular by the film "E.T.," made the message in the play—though written many years ago—seem just as true and important today.

Six-week weight reduction plan offered at Sarah Bush Lincoln

by Dietrich Lawrence

"Trim Lifestyle" may be the extra incentive needed for students who want to reach their weight-losing goal.

The Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center-sponsored weight reduction program meets for six weeks and is instructed by dietician Diana Glosser.

A physician's referral is mandatory before beginning the program, Glosser said.

Eastern students who attend the classes usually are referred by a physician from the campus health service, she said.

A physician referral is required because a new diet is like a prescription and dieticians need to work with the doctors, Glosser added.

Trim Lifestyle will meet for six consecutive Wednesday evenings from 6:30-8:30 p.m. starting Sept. 15.

Senate studies
evaluation idea

The Faculty Senate Tuesday will continue discussing a proposal that students be required to sign teacher evaluations, Faculty Senate Vice Chairman Richard Goodrick said.

The proposal, made by the Summer Faculty Senate, is intended to generate more responsible input and evaluations from students about their instructors.

Last week, the senate voted to request that research be done on the reliability and validity of student evaluations, Goodrick said.

The request for research on faculty evaluations will be sent to Vice President for Academic Affairs Stanley Rives.

Auditions for 'Overtones'
to start today

Open auditions for the 5 O'clock Theater production of "Overtones" are scheduled for 2 to 4 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Playroom of the Fine Arts Building.

The play, by Alice Gurstenberg, deals with one woman who has wealth and another woman who has the love of a man and how they tactfully try to get what the other has, J. Sain, of the theater arts department, said.

Four women's parts are available for any registered student.

and that's something Eastern players said they do not need this season.

When the Panthers lost to NEMO last year, they rebounded with a 58-0 victory over Central State. However, this time around Eastern faces Wayne State, Northern Iowa, Youngstown State and Akron in the next four weeks.

Eastern pulled off a real game-saver and possibly a season-saver Saturday, and NEMO quarterback Tom Hayes said he felt the Panthers would be in big trouble if they had lost.

"I wasn't surprised that they (the Panthers) came back, and if last year's loss to us hurt them, they had to be thinking about it today," Hayes said. "This year we beat ourselves, whereas last year Eastern did itself in."

"I'm sure they were overconfident today, because it showed in some cases, but they never really dominated us," Hayes added. "I really believe we gained some respect from Eastern today."

Many Eastern players said they lost confidence before the intermission, but added that their halftime pep talk was the team's only saving factor.

"We came together as a team after the first half," Christensen said. "The whole team was down, but when we needed to have the big plays we got them."

"I just played terrible. I can't believe the way I played," Christensen added. "(For) one thing, we can't come out flat like that again."

them," she said.

Sophomore Donna Uhler committed only one error in 16 serves Saturday, running her season total to one miscue in 92 serving attempts.

Bonnie Fisk, who had committed 15 errors entering the Western match, made only one serving mistake Saturday in 20 chances.

Kathy Briggs hit every serve into play against Western, which upped her season mark to four errors in 117 tries for a 97-percent rate.

Women netters set for home opener after two losses

by Julie Deetz

Despite two weekend losses to the University of Illinois and Notre Dame teams, the pre-season scrimmages provided a valuable learning experience for the Eastern women's tennis team, Panther coach Chris Perry said.

The extent of the team's learning will be tested when Eastern opens its home exhibition season against Illinois State University at 3:15 p.m. Tuesday on Weller Courts.

"I think this weekend was a good experience for us because we were able to see what we had to do against a tough team," Perry said. "We had to learn to play aggressively at the net."

In addition, the opening scrimmages provided experience for Perry's young team which lost five seniors from last year's squad. Of the five returning players this year, only one starter, senior Kristen Peterson of Fairfield, is back this season.

For the contest against Illinois State, the line-up will be Peterson in the No. 1 singles position with Sally Stout following in the second match.

Patty Kearns, a freshman from Palatine, will be third, with Dawn Pavlik playing flight 4 singles. Nancy Abney follows in fifth and Lori Lyon, a sophomore from Olney, is in the No. 6 position.

For the doubles competition, the matchups for Eastern will be Peterson-Stout at the No. 1 slot, followed by Kearns and Abney, with Pavlik and Lyon teaming for flight 3 doubles.

Abney, a sophomore from Kankakee, won the only match for Eastern at this weekend's exhibition scrimmages. She downed Notre Dame's Cathy Schnell by a 7-6, 6-4 score.

Perry said this fall's scrimmages do not count on the record because the regular season does not begin until spring. She added that this fall will be a good opportunity to see what the team will need to work on for the upcoming year.

Spikers to challenge unbeaten Sycamores

by Susan McCann

Eastern's volleyball players will face a wealth of experience and an undefeated Sycamore squad at 7 p.m. Tuesday when they meet Indiana State University at Terre Haute.

Sycamore coach Vivian Frausto's squad sports five seniors, four sophomores and one freshman as it enters its first year of play in the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference.

The match with Eastern marks the first league challenge for Indiana State, which brought home the championship and a 5-0 record from the Kent State Tournament last weekend.

"It should be a close match, just as I think every match against conference teams will be this year," Eastern coach Carol Gruber, whose squad boasts a 3-1 league mark, said.

The Sycamores opened their season by besting host Kent State 19-17, 15-11 and followed that victory with a 10-15, 15-6, 15-7 victory over Edinboro State College of Pennsylvania.

Indiana State finished the round-robin section of the four-team tournament with a 15-9, 15-5 trouncing of Michigan State.

In the tournament semifinals, the Sycamore spikers downed Kent State 15-8, 15-2 and grabbed the tournament crown with a 15-7 and 15-6 win over the Spartans.

Senior outside hitter Lori Noble received the tournament's outstanding player honors following her squad's five-match sweep.

Frausto, in her fifth year at ISU, used several different combinations of spikers at the tournament, mixing the experience of nine returning players.

Last season, the Sycamores compiled a 25-23 record, including two victories over Eastern. However, the Panthers evened the score with a pair of wins over ISU later in the year.

All four 1981 meetings were close, with Indiana State notching a 15-11, 17-15 triumph Sept. 12 at Macomb and taking a five-game victory Oct. 6 at Terre Haute.

The two squads met again at Evansville, where Eastern swept the Sycamores in three games. In the final encounter, at Lantz Gym, Eastern scored a 15-6, 15-12, 9-15, 15-10 victory to close the Panthers' 1981 home campaign.

"I think we'll see pretty much the same Indiana State team as we saw last year, though they're probably a little more well-seasoned," Gruber said.

"Because we're playing better than we were last year at this time, we should give them a good run for their money," she added.

"If we can consistently receive serves like we did this weekend, can serve as well as we did and maintain a steady offense, we should do well against

Grid contest deserves 'red pen' review

Panther grid followers are still questioning Eastern's surprise fourth-quarter comeback which eventually led to an 18-17 victory over Northeast Missouri Saturday at O'Brien Field.

The victory was so surprising that the Panthers did not deserve to win. In fact, NEMO gave the win to Eastern with offensive miscues in the fourth quarter. But a victory is just that—a victory—and I'm sure the Panther coaching staff will take them in any way possible.

However, now that the dust has settled, Eastern players and coaches should review Saturday's performance with a red pen, because the facts were startling.

After the Panthers struggled for three quarters against the NCAA Division II Bulldogs, many onlookers left in disgust at Eastern's first half statistics—numbers which listed the Panthers for eight yards in total offense.

If that wasn't enough, the Panthers

Behind the byline:

were down 17-0, had the ball for 8:58 to the Bulldog's 21:02 and passed for five yards. Quarterback Jeff Christensen completed one of seven tosses and Eastern notched one first down to NEMO's 17.

Panther running back Kevin Staple made up for all the Panthers woes by rushing for 125 yards on 22 carries. But Staple's best contribution came during the Panthers' fourth-quarter rally when he rushed for two touchdowns.

"We were too tense and the coaches said at the half that we had to go back to our basics," Staple said. "We knew we were playing poor, but I think we needed the time to regroup. It was an off-day for sure."

However, for a Division I school, it's ridiculous for one player to lead the team single-handedly. Staple did his part, but to what extent can the Panthers depend on him?

The Panthers might have underestimated NEMO Saturday because it's a Division II school and it seemed more important to look to next Saturday's contest against Wayne State.

"We might have really underestimated them (NEMO)," Panther strong safety Robert Williams said before the half Saturday. "We might have been looking too far down the road. It was just like last year."

Last year the Panthers fell 21-14 following NEMO quarterback Bob Zumbahlen's 18-yard touchdown pass with 5:15 remaining in the contest. In that game, Christensen completed 15 of 40 tosses for 238 yards. Last Saturday, Christensen totaled 38 yards.

But the sad thing about last season's setback was that it triggered a streak of disappointment throughout the squad,

Softball meeting, Tryouts scheduled

Women students interested in trying out for Eastern's softball squad should attend an introductory meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in McAfee Gym room 106.

Coach Deanna D'Abbraccio said tryouts are set for the next two Sunday mornings in order to give women currently involved in a sport the opportunity to try out.

"I rely on as many walk-ons as possible to fill out the program," said D'Abbraccio, who directed her team to a 45-8 record and third place in AIAW Division II last spring.

Ten letter-winners returned from that squad, but five other starters, including three infielders, were lost to graduation.

Any questions should be directed to D'Abbraccio in Lantz 231, or phone 581-6008.
